75 YEARS OF EMMY®

1948  The Emmy Awards are conceived. The Television Academy’s founding fathers struggle to name the award: Television Academy founder Syd Cassyd suggests “Ike,” the nickname for the television iconoscope tube. Pioneer television engineer and future (1949) Academy president Harry Lubcke suggests “Immy,” a nickname for the image-orthicon camera tube, key in the technical development of television. “Immy” is feminized as “Emmy” because the statuette, designed by engineer Louis McManus (whose wife Dorothy was the model) depicts the winged “muse of art uplifting the electron of science.”

1949  First Emmy Awards – given to Los Angeles area programming for 19- takes place at the Hollywood Athletic Club on January 25. Tickets are $5.00. It is broadcast on local station KTSL. There are less than a million television sets in the U.S. The master of ceremonies was popular TV host Walter O’Keefe. Six awards are given:

- Most Outstanding Television Personality: Twenty-year-old Shirley Dinsdale and her puppet sidekick Judy Splinters for “The Judy Splinters Show.”
- The Station Award for Outstanding Overall Achievement: KTLA (the first commercial television station west of the Mississippi River).
- Technical Award: Engineer Charles Mesak of Don Lee Television for the introduction of TV camera technology.
- The Best Film Made for Television: “The Necklace” (a half hour adaptation of Guy de Maupassant’s classic short story).
- Most Popular Television Program: “Pantomime Quiz.”
- A special Emmy is presented to Louis McManus for designing the statuette.

1950  Second Emmy Awards (January 27, Ambassador Hotel)

- KFI-TV broadcasts, the six other Los Angeles area stations share expense of the telecast. Total estimated show cost: $250.
- Bill Welsh and Dick Lane share hosting duties.
- Academy drops requirement that all competing shows be produced in Hollywood; contenders now include kinescope programs out of New York, Chicago and elsewhere.
- A few hours before the ceremony, winners’ names are leaked, but most recipients appear surprised when announced.
- Ed Wynn is named Outstanding Live Personality; Milton Berle is awarded Outstanding Kinescope Personality.

1951  Third Emmy Awards (KLAC-TV, January 23, Ambassador Hotel).

- Academy founder Syd Cassyd hosts the event.
- Best Actor and Actress categories added, and are presented to Alan Young for “The Alan Young Show” and Gertrude Berg for “The Goldbergs.”
- 1,000 people attend the ceremony.
- Emmys are recognized as a major entertainment industry event.
- When Groucho Marx is named Outstanding Personality, he carries “Miss Emmy” (former Miss America Rosemary LaPlanche) offstage rather than his statuette.
1952  Fourth Emmy Awards (February 18, Coconut Grove)

- Telecast locally by ABC's KECA in Los Angeles.
- Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz are the hosts.
- Coast-to-coast broadcasting doesn't exist; New York winners are contacted by phone.
- Special achievement award goes to Senator Estes Kefauver who investigated organized crime and opened Congressional hearings to the television audience.
- AT&T presented with special achievement award for developing microwave relay system that enables television to be viewed nationwide.
- Awards committee is set up to develop a national awards system.

1953  Fifth Emmy Awards (KLAC, February 3, Hotel Statler)

- Art Linkletter emcees, handling with aplomb falling scenery and a microphone that goes dead for 10 minutes.
- Lucille Ball accepts Emmys for Best Situation Comedy, “I Love Lucy,” and Best Comedienne. It’s the first function she attends after her son, Desi Arnaz Jr., is born.
- Although Lucy is also considered a shoo-in for Outstanding Television Personality, the award goes to Bishop Fulton J. Sheen.

1954  Sixth Emmy Awards (KHJ, February 11, Hollywood Palladium)

- Ed Sullivan emcees, to diffuse his rancor towards the West Coast-based Academy.
- Ceremony almost cancelled when broadcaster KHJ-TV cannot find a sponsor.
- 1954 marks the beginning of “the golden age of television's” live anthology drama series such as “Television Playhouse,” “Studio One,” “Playhouse 90,” ”Kraft Television Theatre” and the “U.S. Steel Hour,” that year's winner of two Emmys.

1955  Seventh Emmy Awards (NBC, March 7, Moulin Rouge in Hollywood/Nino’s LaRue in New York)

- U.S. television set ownership grows to 25 million.
- NBC pays $110,000 for the rights to air telecast across the nation; the show airs simultaneously on both coasts, adding prestige and publicity.
- Steve Allen hosts from Hollywood; Dave Garroway from New York.
- First presentation of Emmys to a full range of craft awards.

1956  Eighth Emmy Awards (NBC, March 17, Pan Pacific Auditorium in Hollywood/Grand Ballroom Waldorf Astoria, New York)

- Art Linkletter hosts from Hollywood; John Daly from New York.
- 40 awards are presented; 24 during the 90 minute broadcast, and 16 immediately following.
- Working press arrive at 5 p.m. for cocktails and are seated at special ringside tables where space is set aside for post-award interviews.

1957  Ninth Emmy Awards (NBC, March 16)

- First nationwide color telecast from NBC's East and West Coast studios; Desi Arnaz emcees.
- The Ceremony is preceded a month earlier by novel, color telecast to announce nominees, scripted by Rod Serling and featuring Steve Allen, Sid Caesar, Phil Silvers, Danny Thomas and songwriter Johnny Mercer (then Television Academy President).
- According to TV Guide's March 16, 1957 issue, "...the Emmy Awards have finally achieved the stature of the Oscars. Certainly everyone in television feels that the Emmy is the highest honor in the industry."
1958 10th Emmy Awards (NBC, April 15)

- Phil Silvers hosts from the Seventh Regiment Armory National Guard in New York and Danny Thomas from the Coconut Grove in Hollywood.
- Telecast sponsors include Procter & Gamble and the Pontiac Division of General Motors.
- Lassie attends the show as a presenter.

1959 11th Emmy Awards (NBC, May 6)

- For the first time Emmys are broadcast from three locations: Hollywood (Moulin Rouge), New York (Ziegfeld Theatre) and Washington, D.C. (Mayflower Hotel) -- where Vice President Richard Nixon helps present news and documentary awards.
- Raymond Burr emcees.
- “An Evening with Fred Astaire” sweeps its nine category nominations – including Best Single Performance by an Actor for Fred Astaire -- but Ed Sullivan and some critics contest the sweep. Ultimately, Astaire keeps his award. The Emmy eligibility period stretches to 14 months one time only, allowing the switch of eligibility period from calendar year to actual TV season.
- NBC technicians strike; cameras and broadcast controls are manned by NBC executives. The broadcast proceeds without technical difficulty.

1960 12th Emmy Awards (NBC, June 20)

- Fred Astaire hosts from NBC's Burbank Studios; Arthur Godfrey from New York’s Ziegfeld Theatre. It’s a telecast highlighted by many firsts:
- Harry Belafonte is first black performer to win an Emmy, for "Tonight with Belafonte.”
- Hanna-Barbera's syndicated show “Huckleberry Hound” wins Outstanding Children's Show, the first syndicated program and first cartoon series to ever win an Emmy.
- Ingrid Bergman wins an Emmy for her first television performance in NBC's “The Turn of the Screw.”
- Laurence Olivier wins an Emmy for his debut television performance in NBC's “The Moon and Sixpence.”
- A relatively unknown comedian, Bob Newhart, gets extra airtime when a skit featuring comedy duo Mike Nichols and Elaine May is cancelled. A new television star is born.

1961 13th Emmy Awards (NBC, May 16)

- Dick Powell hosts from Moulin Rouge in Hollywood and Joey Bishop from the Ziegfeld Theatre in New York.
- First time eligibility period for awards directly parallels television network season.
- Ceremony dominated by “Hallmark Hall of Fame's Macbeth,” the first made-for-TV movie – Emmys go to the program, stars Maurice Evans and Judith Anderson, director George Schaefer.
- Telecast pulls a 33.9 Nielsen rating and is the most watched show of its week, beating "Candid Camera,” “The Ed Sullivan Show” and “The Untouchables.”
1962 14th Emmy Awards (NBC, May 22)

- Telecast uses film and tape clips from nominated shows for the first time.
- Bob Newhart emcees from the Hollywood Palladium; Johnny Carson from the New York Astor Hotel; NBC newsman David Brinkley from the Sheraton Park Hotel in Washington D.C.
- In Washington, D.C., a special Trustees Award is given to Jacqueline Kennedy for her CBS-TV tour of the White House. Lady Bird Johnson accepts for the camera-shy First Lady.
- A new award is presented in New York created solely for daytime programs.
- Television Academy’s Board of Trustees honors the news departments of ABC, CBS and NBC for their coverage of John Glenn’s space flight.

1963 15th Emmy Awards (NBC, May 26)

- Joey Bishop emcees from the Hollywood Palladium; Arthur Godfrey from New York’s Americana Hotel; Chet Huntley from the Sheraton-Park Hotel in Washington D. C.
- President John F. Kennedy receives a Trustees citation “… for having initiated news conferences on TV, and for scheduling a news conference as part of the first Telstar broadcast.”
- AT&T is given Trustees Award for conceiving and developing Telstar satellites.
- An international Emmy is introduced and the recipient is the U.K.’s Granada Television for its three-hour adaptation of Tolstoy’s “War and Peace.”

1964 16th Emmy Awards (NBC, May 25)

- Joey Bishop emcees from the Hollywood Palladium, E.G. Marshall from the Texas Pavilion at the New York World’s Fair
- Top honors go to “The Dick Van Dyke Show” – Outstanding Comedy Series, Lead Actor and Actress (Dick Van Dyke and Mary Tyler Moore), Director (Jerry Paris) and Writers (Carl Reiner, Sam Denoff and Bill Persky).
- Shelley Winters wins for Outstanding Single Performance by a Lead Actress in Chrysler Theatre’s teleplay “Two is the Number” and mistakenly thanks the Motion Picture Academy for her award.

1965 17th Emmy Awards (NBC, September 12)

- Danny Thomas hosts from Hollywood Palladium, Sammy Davis Jr. from New York Hilton.
- More than 50 million Americans watch the show.
- There are five winners in Outstanding Achievement in Entertainment (Leonard Bernstein, Lynn Fontanne, Alfred Lunt, Barbra Streisand, Dick Van Dyke) and four in Outstanding Entertainment Programs (“The Dick Van Dyke Show,” “The Magnificent Yankee,” “My Name is Barbra,” “What Is Sonata Form? Young People’s Concert with Leonard Bernstein”).

1966 18th Emmy Awards (CBS, May 22)

- Danny Kaye hosts at Hollywood Palladium; Bill Cosby at New York’s Americana Hotel.
- The Emmy Awards begin rotating among the three networks.
- Awards categories are revamped again. Half revert to previous format of one winner per category. The rest continue to be “areas” of achievement in which multiple, one or no winners can be named.
- Bill Cosby (“I Spy”) wins Outstanding Actor in a Drama Series – only the second black performer to win an Emmy.
1967 19th Emmy Awards (ABC, June 4)

- Joey Bishop hosts from Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles; Hugh Downs from New York’s Americana Hotel.
- Costume Design is recognized as an Emmy category.
- Bob Mackie and Ray Aghayan win first Emmy for Best Costume Design for “Alice Through the Looking Glass.”
- Gene Kelly’s “Jack and The Beanstalk” (which combined live action and animation) wins Outstanding Children’s Programming.
- “The Monkees” is a surprise first-season winner as Outstanding Comedy Series.

1968 20th Emmy Awards (NBC, May 19)

- Frank Sinatra hosts from Hollywood Palladium; Dick Van Dyke from New York’s Americana Hotel.
- A highlight of the show is Lucille Ball, Carol Burnett and Sinatra singing “I Remember it Well.”
- Four months after its premiere, NBC’s risqué variety show “Rowan and Martin’s Laugh-In” scores four Emmys.

1969 21st Emmy Awards (CBS, June 8)

- Bill Cosby hosts from Santa Monica Civic Auditorium; Merv Griffin from Carnegie Hall.
- Four cancelled series receive Emmys: NBC’s “Get Smart” and “The Ghost and Mrs. Muir,” ABC’s “Judd for the Defense” and CBS’ “The Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour.”
- Sparking controversy, no Emmys are awarded in three categories: Outstanding Single Performance by an Actor in a Supporting Role; Outstanding Directorial Achievement in Comedy, Variety or Music and Outstanding Achievement in Children’s Programming.

1970 22nd Emmy Awards (ABC, June 7)

- Bill Cosby hosts from Century Plaza in Los Angeles; Dick Cavett from Carnegie Hall in New York.
- First year the telecast concentrates solely on primetime entertainment.
- Separate Creative Arts Awards ceremony is created when craft and technical awards are presented at an earlier non-televised event; telecast can no longer accommodate expanding number of awards presentations.

1971 23rd Emmy Awards (NBC, May 9)

- Johnny Carson hosts from Hollywood Palladium.
- For the first time since 1953, the Emmys are telecast entirely from Hollywood.
- Shirley Dinsdale, recipient of first Emmy, flown in from New York to attend ceremony.
- Skit featuring Edith and Archie from “All in the Family” opens show; “All in the Family” goes on to win Outstanding New Series and Outstanding Comedy Series.

1972 24th Emmy Awards (CBS, May 14)

- Johnny Carson hosts from Hollywood Palladium.
- New categories added: Outstanding Achievement in Daytime Drama goes to “The Doctors,” and Outstanding Religious Programming – Individual (Alfredo Antonini, music director for “And David Wept.”)
- “Brian’s Song” wins Outstanding Program, setting new standard for made-for-TV movies.
1973  25th Emmy Awards (ABC, May 20)

- Johnny Carson hosts from the Shubert Theatre in Los Angeles.
- Due to rules changes, the awards introduce a new category: Outstanding Drama/Comedy – Limited Episode, to separate competitions between ongoing regular series and limited series such as the closed-ended "Masterpiece Theatre."
- Talk show category is eliminated.
- Bob Fosse becomes only person to win an Emmy (three wins for "Liza with a 'Z'") and an Oscar and Tony in the same year.
- Categories are created for Daytime Dramas and Non-Dramas. Mary Fickett of "All My Children" is the first soap opera actor ever to win an Emmy.
- For the first time ever News and Documentary Emmys are bestowed in a separate, May 22 CBS telecast from the New York Hilton.

1974  26th Emmy Awards (NBC, May 28)

- Johnny Carson hosts from Pantages Theatre in Hollywood.
- CBS wins 44 Emmys, the most won in a single year by a network.
- "Super Emmys" awarded for first time: winners of the year for best actor (in comedy, drama, limited series and TV film genres), then competed against each other for "Actor of the Year – Series" or "Actor of the Year – Special." Likewise for actresses, directors, writers, etc. Fourteen Super Emmys in primetime and five in daytime are awarded. Hollywood's biggest stars, producers and directors protest and threaten to quit the Academy but NATAS convinces them to give it a try. Soon after the broadcast, "Super Emmy" is dropped.
- First time Daytime TV given a separate, daytime broadcast May 28 on NBC from Rockefeller Plaza in New York.
- News and Documentary Emmys are presented on ABC on September 4.

1975  27th Primetime Emmy Awards (CBS May 19)

- Telecast from the Hollywood Palladium, features 10 female stars as Mistresses of Ceremonies: Lucille Ball, Bea Arthur, Jean Stapleton, Carol Burnett, Cher, Teresa Graves, Mary Tyler Moore, Susan Saint James, Michael Learned and Karen Valentine. The 11th "hostess" is Flip Wilson appearing in drag as his sassy character "Geraldine."
- Writers and directors threaten to boycott the Emmys when they learn of Television Academy's initial plan to present their Emmys off air.

1976  28th Primetime Emmy Awards (ABC, May 17)

- Hosting duties are shared by Mary Tyler Moore and John Denver at the Shubert Theatre in Los Angeles.
- Newcomer "Saturday Night Live" wins four Emmys out of five nominations. Milton Berle presents show with Best Variety Series award.
1977 29th Primetime Emmy Awards (NBC, September 11, Pasadena Civic Auditorium)

- Differences between the New York and Hollywood chapters of the Television Academy, split the organization into two different academies. The Hollywood group reverts to its original name -- Academy of Television Arts & Sciences -- and the New York group goes by National Academy of Television Arts & Sciences. The LA/Hollywood-based group retains the Primetime Emmy awards which air in September to kick off the new television season.
- NATAS retains the Daytime Emmys, News Documentary and Sports Emmys as well as jurisdiction over 19 regional U.S. chapters which produce local Emmy events.
- ABC's most-watched miniseries, “Roots,” receives a record 37 nominations and picks up 9 awards – the most ever won by a miniseries.
- It's a tie - a first in Emmy history. Outstanding Special or Drama ends in a tie and both shows are directed by the same person. ABC's “Eleanor and Franklin: The White House Years” and NBC's “Sybil,” both directed by Daniel Petrie.
- Angie Dickinson and Robert Blake host.
- The show clocks in at a record 3 hours and 30 minutes.

1978 30th Primetime Emmy Awards (CBS, September 17)

- Alan Alda emcees from Pasadena Civic Auditorium.
- Show is interrupted by a half hour press conference in which U.S. President Jimmy Carter, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin announce a successful resolution to their peace talks at Camp David.

1979 31st Primetime Emmys Awards (ABC, September 9)

- Henry Winkler and Cheryl Ladd host from Pasadena Civic Auditorium.
- Telecast is interrupted by President Carter’s tribute to three television newsman killed in Nicaragua and Guyana.
- The Governors Award is presented to Walter Cronkite; CBS Founder William S. Paley is given the Trustees Award and Milton Berle “Mr. Television” receives a special presentation.

1980 32nd Primetime Emmy Awards (NBC, September 7)

- Dick Clark and Steve Allen host from Pasadena Civic Auditorium.
- The Television Academy adjusts the show to reflect the resurgence of variety/music shows and adds three awards for directors, writers and art directors.
- John Leverence is named Awards Administrator for the Television Academy.
- The 32nd Primetime Emmys are boycotted by the actors and actresses because it occurs during the seven-week strike by the Screen Actors Guild (SAG) and the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AFTRA) against the television networks and major TV and film producers.
- Powers Boothe is the only one of the 52 nominated performers to attend. He wins for Outstanding Actor in a Limited Series or Special for “Guyana Tragedy: The Story of Jim Jones” and receives a standing ovation. He is remembered for saying “This is either the most courageous moment of my career or the stupidest.”

1981 33rd Primetime Emmy Awards (CBS, September 13)

- Ed Asner and Shirley MacLaine host from Pasadena Civic Auditorium.
- “Hill Street Blues,” a first-year police drama on NBC with little viewership, receives 21 nominations and wins eight Emmys – no series has ever received as many nominations in one season nor has ever won as many statuettes up to that time.
1982 34th Primetime Emmy Awards (ABC, September 19)

- Marlo Thomas and John Forsythe host from Pasadena Civic Auditorium.
- “Barney Miller,” the long running police station sitcom had been nominated for Outstanding Comedy Series seven times during its seven seasons on the air. The show finally wins -- after being cancelled by ABC.

1983 35th Primetime Emmy Awards (NBC, September 25)

- Joan Rivers and Eddie Murphy cohost from Pasadena Civic Auditorium.
- Risqué comments by Rivers cause the NBC switchboard to light up with calls from angry viewers. Telecast is subsequently edited for the tape-delayed West Coast presentation for the first time ever.
- “Cheers” leads with 13 nominations and scores 6 awards.
- NBC takes 21 of the 29 awards presented on air.

1984 36th Primetime Emmy Awards (CBS, September 2)

- Tom Selleck hosts from Pasadena Civic Auditorium.
- “Hill Street Blues” becomes the most honored dramatic series in history with a total of 25 Emmy wins.
- Show runs 3 hours and 36 minutes -- a new broadcast record for the Emmys.

1985 37th Primetime Emmy Awards (ABC, September 22)

- John Forsythe hosts from Pasadena Civic Auditorium.
- Television Academy’s Board of Governors vote to include national cable programming in future Emmy Awards telecasts.
- An unfamiliar, tuxedo-clad man almost makes off with Betty Thomas’ Emmy for Outstanding Supporting Actress in a Drama Series when he accepts the award for Thomas. ABC cuts to commercial and returns with Thomas making her acceptance speech. The stranger is Barry Bremen, a professional hoaxer. He is arrested for grand theft.

1986 38th Primetime Emmy Awards (NBC, September 21)

- The ceremony is cohosted by David Letterman and Shelley Long from Pasadena Civic Auditorium.
- “The Golden Girls,” the first hit show in TV history with an all-female cast, wins for Outstanding Comedy Series and Betty White wins for Outstanding Actress.
- After winning for Outstanding Actor in a Comedy Series, Michael J. Fox quips “I feel 4 feet tall.”
- During the ceremony, Letterman salutes Grant Tinker, who had stepped down as chairman of NBC -- its parent company, RCA, was acquired by General Electric.
- The ceremony paid tribute to Red Skelton who was presented with the Governors Award. During his acceptance speech he confessed having missed being on TV for the previous 16 years.
- An entertaining musical number saluting television theme music was performed which featured such actresses as Bea Arthur, Linda Lavin, Marlo Thomas and more singing and dancing to their program’s theme songs.
1987  39th Primetime Emmy Awards (FOX, September 20)

- Bruce Willis emcees from Pasadena Civic Auditorium.
- Fox Broadcasting lands a three-year contract to telecast the Emmys, which were telecast in rotation for more than 20 years on ABC, CBS and NBC. FOX outbids them with an offer of $4.5 million to telecast the Emmys over a three-year period.
- Changes to telecast include:
  - Recap of winners are added two-thirds into the show.
  - Voiceovers note number of previous nominations and wins for each winner as they approached the stage.
  - No time cap on acceptance speeches.
- Sets a record set for the longest telecast, coming in 20 seconds short of four hours.

1988  40th Primetime Emmy Awards (FOX, August 28, Pasadena Civic Auditorium)

- “Saturday Night Live’s” Lorne Michaels produces.
- Show has no host or production numbers.
- Cable television now permitted to compete in the primetime honors.
- Actress Tracey Ullman says the show is “the hippest Emmys I’ve ever seen.”
- Time cap on acceptance speeches reinstated.
- “The Wonder Years” – a mid-season comedy – scores an upset victory in the Outstanding Comedy Series category.

1989  41st Primetime Emmy Awards (FOX, September 17)

- John Larroquette hosts from Pasadena Civic Auditorium
- FOX Network finally wins four awards for the “Tracey Ullman Show.”
- Candice Bergen wins her first Emmy portraying Murphy Brown and quips “Dad, if you are watching, this is for you!” referencing her father, the late Edgar Bergen who had never won an Emmy, but had served as the Television Academy’s first president.
- Lucille Ball is honored with a posthumous Governors Award, presented by Bob Hope to Ball’s husband, Gary Morton, who had been widowed in April.

1990  42nd Primetime Emmy Awards (FOX, September 16)

- Candice Bergen, Jay Leno and Jane Pauley hosts form the Pasadena Civic Auditorium.
- Quirky “Twin Peaks” receives 14 nominations.
- Cable breaks through with 10 Emmys – 8 for HBO and 2 for Disney Channel.
- FOX signs another three-year deal to broadcast the show.

1991  43rd Primetime Emmy Awards (FOX, August 25)

- Ceremony held in August instead of September as FOX attempts to avoid competing with new shows and season premieres on the major networks in September.
- Dennis Miller emcees from the Pasadena Civic Auditorium.
- FOX issues a public apology regarding comedian Gilbert Gottfried’s off-color remarks after viewers jam the switchboard with irate calls.
- The ceremony is the first televised event to feature red ribbons worn by those present in support of men, women and children living with HIV and AIDS. Producers ask Jamie Lee Curtis to explain the significance to viewers.
1992 44th Primetime Emmy Awards (FOX, August 30)

- Dennis Miller hosts from Pasadena Civic Auditorium.
- “Murphy Brown” receives the Emmy for Outstanding Comedy Series after Vice President Dan Quayle publicly criticizes the fictitious character for having a baby out of wedlock.
- Television Academy consolidates Outstanding Guest Actor/Actress in a Drama and Comedy Series into the Outstanding Lead Actor/Actress categories eliminating two award categories and allowing guest stars to participate in the televised portion of the awards rather than in the non-televised Creative Arts presentation.
- Worldwide viewership grows to more than 300 million people in 30 countries including Russia and Japan for the first time.

1993 45th Primetime Emmy Awards (ABC, September 19)

- Angela Lansbury hosts from Pasadena Civic Auditorium.
- After six consecutive years of Emmy telecasts on FOX the show is up for renewal. Television Academy leaders and executives from all four networks agree that show should be shared. But the licensing fee can't be agreed upon; Television Academy rejects rotating bid and gives the show to ABC for the next three years. Boycott by other three networks declared.
- Television Academy leadership finally permits the cartoon hit “The Simpsons” to enter the competition for Best Comedy Series, but it isn't nominated.
- HBO’s “The Larry Sanders Show” becomes the first cable program ever nominated for Best Comedy Series.
- HBO ties with ABC with 55 nominations. HBO wins 17 awards - most for any network.
- Betty Thomas becomes the first woman to receive a Directing Emmy for the HBO comedy “Dream On.”
- 27 awards are given out - single presenters are used instead of twosomes and no song and dance numbers.

1994 46th Primetime Emmy Awards (ABC, September 11)

- Patricia Richardson and Ellen DeGeneres co-host from Pasadena Civic Auditorium.
- Rival networks drop boycott when ABC nixes its exclusive broadcast contract.
- Television Academy confirms a new deal to rotate the Primetime Emmys among all four networks.
- “NYPD Blue” enters with 26 nominations.

1995 47th Primetime Emmy Awards (FOX, September 10)

- Jason Alexander and Cybill Shepherd host from Pasadena Civic Auditorium.
- UPN and The WB emerge as two more broadcast networks.
- Television Academy rewords its bylaws to honor programming carried on new distribution formats.
- “ER” enters with 23 nominations.
- New rules changes govern awards judging in two top categories. Nominees for Outstanding Comedy and Drama series now submit eight episodes to four different judging panels, instead of only one-wo sample episodes to one panel.
1996 48th Primetime Emmy Awards (ABC, September 8)

- Paul Reiser, Oprah Winfrey and Michael J. Fox share hosting duties from Pasadena Civic Auditorium.
- Telecast introduces the President’s Award, a new honor recognizing a program that best explores social, educational or medical issues and encourages and promotes changes that help society. Award goes to the American Movie Classic channel for “Blacklist: Hollywood on Trial.” It is the cable network's first Emmy.
- Telecast beams to 85 countries including, for the first time, most of Middle East.

1997 49th Primetime Emmy Awards (CBS, September 14)

- Bryant Gumbel hosts from Pasadena Civic Auditorium.
- Television commercials are nominated for the first time since 1955. An HBO spot featuring monkeys mouthing lines from famous movies wins the award presented at the non-televised Creative Arts Awards.
- “Law and Order” takes home Best Drama Series over favored “NYPD Blue.”
- Ellen DeGeneres is nominated for Best Comedy Actress for the special one-hour episode of “Ellen” in which she came out as a lesbian. It was the first depiction of homosexuality by a lead in primetime.
- “The Simpsons” makes Emmy history as the biggest winner of the awards for Outstanding Animated Program, scoring its fourth victory in eight years.

1998 50th Primetime Emmy Awards (NBC, September 13 at The Shrine Auditorium; no host)

- After 21 years at the 2,800 seat Pasadena Civic Auditorium, Emmy moves to the 6,000 seat Shrine Auditorium in honor of the 50th Anniversary Gala.
- “Frasier” marks the first half-century of the Primetime Emmy Awards by rewriting the record book and winning 5 Comedy Series Emmys consecutively.
- After Camryn Manheim wins the Emmy for Best Supporting Actress, she thrusts it over her head and shouts, “This is for all the fat girls.”
- The President’s Award is eliminated.

1999 51st Primetime Emmy Awards (FOX, September 12)

- Jenna Elfman and David Hyde Pierce host from The Shrine Auditorium.
- David E. Kelley makes Emmy history with same year wins for Outstanding Comedy (“Ally McBeal”) and Outstanding Drama Series (“The Practice”) in the same year.
- “Ally McBeal” has first-ever hour-long series win in the Outstanding Comedy category.
- HBO’s “The Sopranos” is the first cable series ever nominated for Outstanding Drama.

2000 52nd Primetime Emmy Awards (ABC, September 10)

- Garry Shandling hosts from The Shrine Auditorium.
- Television Academy changes voting system with the organization of blue ribbon panel judging at home for final round voting.
- NBC goes in with a record 97 nominations for any single network.

2001 53rd Primetime Emmy Awards (CBS, November 4)

- Original September 16 telecast from the Shrine Auditorium postponed due to September 11 terrorist attacks; rescheduled October 7 telecast postponed due to U.S. invasion of Afghanistan.
- Executive Producer Don Mischer leaves the show in October, due to production commitments for the 2002 Winter Olympics Opening Ceremonies.
- The November 4 telecast moves to the Shubert Theatre in Los Angeles, is produced by Gary Smith, and Ellen DeGeneres hosts a landmark show.
2002  54th Primetime Emmy Awards (NBC, September 22)

- Television Academy strikes ground-breaking, eight-year licensing deal with the four networks raising the licensing fee to $5.5 million for each of the first four years and $7.5 million for each of the next four.
- Conan O'Brien hosts from The Shrine Auditorium.
- For the first time, the Creative Arts Awards are televised as a two-hour special on E! Entertainment Television.
- Oprah Winfrey receives the first Bob Hope Humanitarian Award.

2003  55th Primetime Emmy Awards (FOX, September 21)

- Telecast forgoes use of traditional host(s) and features 11 top comics who emcee the evening from The Shrine Auditorium.
- Bill Cosby is the recipient of the prestigious Bob Hope Humanitarian Award.

2004  56th Primetime Emmy Awards (ABC, September 22)

- Hosted by Garry Shandling at The Shrine Auditorium.
- Nominees include more crossovers from the motion picture industry than ever before: Meryl Streep, Al Pacino, Sharon Stone, Emma Thompson, Glenn Close, Helen Mirren, Judy Davis, Antonio Banderas, Steve Buscemi, William H. Macy, Julie Andrews, Anne Heche, Anjelica Huston and Mary Louise Parker are all nominated for an Emmy Award.
- Danny Thomas posthumously receives the Bob Hope Humanitarian Award.

2005  57th Primetime Emmy Awards (CBS, September 19)

- Hosted by Ellen DeGeneres at The Shrine Auditorium.
- David Letterman pays special tribute to Johnny Carson, who had passed away January 23.
- Tom Brokaw and Dan Rather pay tribute to colleague Peter Jennings, who passed away August 7, and commemorate the departure of all three newsmen from anchoring nightly network news on NBC, CBS and ABC.

2006  58th Primetime Emmy Awards (NBC, August 27)

- Hosted by Conan O'Brien at The Shrine Auditorium.
- Due to NBC's football schedule, the Emmy Awards air a month early in August for the first time in 14 years.
- During a tribute to TV legend Aaron Spelling, who passed away June 23, the original "Charlie's Angels" - Kate Jackson, Farrah Fawcett and Jaclyn Smith -- reunite on the same stage.

2007  59th Primetime Emmy Awards (FOX, September 16)

- Emceed by Ryan Seacrest at The Shrine Auditorium.
- First time show is shot as "theatre in the round" with nominees sitting on stage.
- Tony Bennett and Christina Aguilera perform together on the classic "Steppin' Out with My Baby."
- "A Fond Farewell to the Sopranos" features a performance by the cast of the hit Broadway musical Jersey Boys.
2008 60th Primetime Emmy Awards (ABC, September 21)

- After nine years at the Shrine the Emmys move to the new Nokia Theatre L.A. LIVE
- Oprah Winfrey introduces show hosts -- the nominees for Outstanding Reality Host -- Tom Bergeron, Heidi Klum, Howie Mandel, Jeff Probst and Ryan Seacrest.
- Lauren Conrad from “The Hills” and Christian Siriano from “Project Runway” design gowns for the trophy girls.
- Josh Groban performs television's greatest theme songs.
- Iconic stars and sets from television's greatest shows are incorporated into the telecast -- including Mary Tyler Moore and original “Laugh-In” cast members reuniting for the 40th anniversary of the comedy variety classic.

2009 61st Primetime Emmy Awards (CBS, September 20)

- Neil Patrick Harris is the night’s critically-acclaimed host, opening with an original number, “Put Down the Remote!” at the Nokia Theatre L.A. LIVE
- Other music highlights include a live band on stage for the first time in years and Sarah McLachlan performing “I Will Remember You” during “In Memoriam” segment.
- The number of nominees expands to six (6) each in Outstanding Drama and Comedy Performers and Supporting Performers, Drama and Comedy Series.
- “Family Guy” becomes the first animated Outstanding Comedy Series nominee since “The Flintstones” nearly 50 years earlier.
- Executive Producer Don Mischer and team are visible on the stage via a transparent production set-up.

2010 62nd Primetime Emmy Awards (NBC, August 29)

- Hosted by Jimmy Fallon at the Nokia Theatre L.A. LIVE.
- No more tape delayed telecast! The Emmys are telecast live coast-to-coast for the first time in over three decades.
- Jimmy Fallon scores with a “Glee”-inspired opening number featuring Bruce Springsteen’s “Born to Run,” featuring Tina Fey, “Glee” cast members, Jon Hamm, Betty White and Kate Gosselin plus several musical spoofs throughout the show.
- George Clooney is presented with the Bob Hope Humanitarian Award.
- Jewel performs her original and previously unreleased song, “The Shape of You,” for the “In Memoriam” segment.
- Emmys.com and NBC.com premiere “Backstage LIVE” – a second screen companion program to the telecast – a behind the scenes showcase featuring unique shots of Jimmy Fallon, Executive Producer Don Mischer and the evening’s winners.
- “Saturday Night Live” surpasses “ER” as the most nominated television show in Emmy history with 126 nominations as of 2010.

2011 63rd Emmy Awards (FOX, September 18)

- Hosted by Jane Lynch at the Nokia Theatre L.A. LIVE.
- The Emmys are again telecast live coast-to-coast and executive produced for the first time by Mark Burnett.
- Host Jane Lynch opens with an original musical number featuring Jon Hamm and the cast of “Mad Men,” Nick Offerman, Jim Parsons and the cast of “The Big Bang Theory,” Eric Dane, Randy Jackson and more.
- The Canadian Tenors perform “Hallelujah” during the In Memoriam package.
- Mimicking a beauty pageant, Lead Comedy Actress nominees take the stage when announced, and present flowers and a tiara to first-time winner Melissa McCarthy.
- Comedy music troupe The Lonely Island performs a medley of their hits “I Just Had Sex,” “Three Way” and “Jack Sparrow” with Michael Bolton and Akon.
2012 64th Emmy Awards (ABC, September 23)

- Hosted by Jimmy Kimmel at the Nokia Theatre L.A. LIVE.
- Live coast-to-coast telecasting continues; the show open features a comedic video of Jimmy Kimmel preparing to host with cameos by Kathy Bates, Connie Britton, Zooey Deschanel, Lena Dunham, Christina Hendricks and Mindy Kaling.
- Freshman drama “Homeland” wins Outstanding Drama Series and the series’ Claire Danes and Damian Lewis win Lead Actress and Actor in a Drama Series.
- Kimmel enlists Tracy Morgan and Twitter to play a trick on the television audience – during commercial break, everyone in the theatre Tweets that Morgan has passed out on stage, and the moment trends
- Ron Howard pays tribute to the late Andy Griffith.

2013 65th Emmy Awards (CBS, September 22)

- Neil Patrick Harris hosts at the Nokia Theatre L.A. LIVE.
- Live telecasting is here to stay, with Ken Ehrlich executive producing.
- Robin Williams eulogizes the great Jonathan Winters; Michael J. Fox fondly remembers Gary David Goldberg; Edie Falco pays tribute to James Gandolfini; Jane Lynch remembers the tragic loss of “Glee” cast mate Cory Monteith.
- For the first time, a digital platform series (Netflix’s “House of Cards”) is nominated in the major series and performance categories.
- Elton John performs a tribute to Liberace in support of “Behind the Candelabra,” and Michael Douglas wins the Emmy for his role as the amazing showman.
- First-time Emmy winners include Jeff Daniels (“The Newsroom”), “The Voice,” “The Colbert Report,” and “Breaking Bad.”
- Television’s role in the historic events of 1963 is remembered as Don Cheadle recalls the assassination of President John F. Kennedy; Carrie Underwood performs “Yesterday” to commemorate the Beatles’ debut on “The Ed Sullivan Show.”
- For the first time, the Outstanding Choreography Emmy is awarded on the telecast in tandem with an incredible dance performance by the nominees.

2014 66th Emmy Awards (NBC, August 25)

- Hosted by Seth Meyers at the Nokia Theatre L.A. LIVE, and Don Mischer returns to executive produce the live telecast.
- For the first time since 1976 (28th Emmy Awards), the Emmys are held on a Monday.
- Billy Crystal presents a touching tribute to the late Robin Williams.
- The evening features a surprise performance by Weird Al Yankovic and Andy Samberg putting lyrics to some of television’s most iconic theme music.
- Uzo Aduba is named Outstanding Supporting Actress in a Drama Series (Netflix’s “Orange is the New Black”).
- In its final season, “Breaking Bad” takes home the Emmy for Outstanding Drama Series.
2015 67th Emmy Awards (FOX, September 20)

- Hosted by Andy Samberg at the renamed Microsoft Theater, L.A. LIVE.
- Viola Davis makes history becoming the first Black woman to win Outstanding Lead Actress in a Drama Series for ABC's "How to Get Away with Murder."
- African American actresses Regina King and Uzo Aduba also take top honors – King as Outstanding Supporting Actress in a Limited Series (ABC's "American Crime"), and Aduba as Outstanding Supporting Actress in a Drama Series (Netflix's "Orange is the New Black").
- Jon Hamm brings the audience to its feet when Tina Fey announces him as the Outstanding Lead Actor in a Drama Series for the final season of AMC's "Mad Men."
- HBO sweeps the Outstanding Drama, Comedy and Limited Series Program categories with "Game of Thrones," "Veep" and "Olive Kitteridge."
- Amazon Prime’s "Transparent" breaks new ground for the transgender community, and Emmys go home with the series’ executive producer Jill Soloway for directing, and Jeffrey Tambor as Outstanding Actor in a Comedy Series for his portrayal of transgender Maura Pfefferman.

2016 68th Emmy Awards (ABC, September 18)

- Hosted by Jimmy Kimmel at the Microsoft Theater, L.A. LIVE.
- The live telecast is preceded by two Creative Arts Emmy Awards, Sept. 10 & 11, which air Saturday, Sept. 17 on FXX.
- The pre-telecast performance of "Uptown Funk" by Millie Bobby Brown, Caleb McLaughlin and Gaten Matarazzo from Netflix’s summer series "Stranger Things" becomes a viral sensation.
- Rami Malek (USA’s "Mr. Robot") and Tatiana Maslany (BBC America’s "Orphan Black") provide unexpected and exciting wins -- Outstanding Lead Actor and Outstanding Lead Actress in a Drama Series.
- Accepting her fifth consecutive Emmy as Outstanding Lead Actress in a Comedy Series (as "VEEP’s" Selina Meyer) Julia Louis-Dreyfus says the show feels "...like a sobering documentary," and pays tribute to her recently deceased father.
- "The People v. O.J. Simpson: American Crime Story" receives nine Emmys, including Outstanding Limited Series, Sarah Paulson as Outstanding Lead Actress in a Limited Series or Movie, Courtney B. Vance as Lead Actor in a Limited Series or Movie and Sterling K. Brown as Supporting Actor in a Limited Series or Movie.
- "Game of Thrones" receives 12 Emmys over the three Emmy Awards nights, including a second consecutive Outstanding Drama Series trophy, exceeding "Frasier's" record-setting 37 Emmys to become the record-holder for most Emmys won by a single program (38).
2017 69th Emmy Awards (CBS, September 17)

- Hosted by Steven Colbert at the Microsoft Theater, L.A. LIVE, the show is executive produced by Glenn Weiss and Ricky Kirshner of White Cherry; they deliver a telecast celebrating inclusion and the power of women.
- Colbert’s opening musical number, “The World’s A Little Better on TV,” features a chorus line of “handmaids” of both sexes; his monologue includes the surprise appearance of former White House Press Secretary Sean Spicer.
- Hulu is the first streaming service to capture Outstanding Drama Series, with “The Handmaid’s Tale” adapted from Margaret Atwood’s dystopian novel. Elisabeth Moss, Ann Dowd and Alexis Bledel are first-time Emmy winners for their lead, supporting and guest performances in the series.
- “Big Little Lies,” HBO’s domestic abuse drama produced by Reese Witherspoon and Nicole Kidman takes home eight Emmys, including Outstanding Limited Series, Outstanding Actress in a Limited Series (Kidman), Supporting Actor (Alexander Skarsgård) and Supporting Actress (Laura Dern).
- Lena Waithe becomes the second Black woman to win the Emmy for Outstanding Comedy Writing for her work on “Master of None.” (The first was Linda Morris for “Frasier” in 1994, 1995 and 1996.)
- Donald Glover wins two Emmys – Outstanding Lead Actor in a Comedy Series and Outstanding Directing for a Comedy – for “Atlanta.”

2018 70th Emmy Awards (NBC, September 17)

- While accepting the Emmy for Outstanding Directing for a Variety Special for that year’s Academy Awards telecast, Glenn Weiss stops the show when he proposes marriage to Jan Svendsen, and the audience cheers them on.
- “The Marvelous Mrs. Maisel” sweeps the Comedy Series categories with Emmys for Outstanding Comedy, Outstanding Lead Actress (Rachel Brosnahan) and Supporting Actress (Alex Borstein) as well as Outstanding Directing and Writing.
- Absent from the 2017 TV season, “Game of Thrones” returns to win Outstanding Drama Series, Peter Dinklage wins his third Emmy as Outstanding Supporting Actor in a Drama, for a total of nine Emmys including seven Creative Arts Emmys awarded the prior weekend.

2019 71st Emmy Awards (FOX, September 22)

- A “no-host” Emmys is jointly produced by Don Mischer Productions and Done + Dusted at the Microsoft Theater, L.A. Live.
- Phoebe Waller Bridge wins three Emmys for “Fleabag” – Outstanding Lead Comedy Actress, Outstanding Comedy Writing and Outstanding Comedy Series – and a fourth Emmy for Outstanding Drama Writing for “Killing Eve.”
- For the first time, two programs originating from the U.K. win two of the three major awards: “Fleabag” and “Chernobyl” (Outstanding Limited Series).
- Billy Porter makes history as the first Black gay man to win Outstanding Lead Actor in a Drama for “Pose.”
- Relative newcomer Jharrel Jerome is named of Outstanding Lead Actor in a Limited Series or Movie for his role in Ava DuVernay’s “When They See Us.”
- “Game of Thrones” is named Outstanding Drama Series and receives a total of 12 Emmy wins in its final season; Peter Dinklage receives his fourth Emmy for the series, the most individual wins ever for Outstanding Supporting Actor in a Drama Series.
- At the Creative Arts Emmys, Norman Lear becomes the oldest (96 years) Emmy winner for his Variety Special, “Live in Front of a Studio Audience: Norman Lear’s All in the Family and The Jeffersons.”

Revised 6.29.23
2020 72nd Emmy Awards (ABC, September 20)

- The COVID-19 pandemic shuts down television production in early March, but the Emmy Awards and telecast proceed on schedule, produced by Done + Dusted and executive produced by Guy Carrington, Reginald Hudlin, David Jammy, Ian Stewart and Jimmy Kimmel.
- Telecast from Staples Center at L.A. Live, without an audience, by a socially-distanced crew, the program is critically-acclaimed; it meets the pandemic and the social justice movement head on, and features historic wins.
- Jimmy Kimmel hosts a handful of in-person presenters (Jennifer Aniston, Tracee Ellis Ross, Jason Sudeikis, Sterling K. Brown, Anthony Anderson, Zendaya and Randall Park, along with 140 video feeds from around the globe – bringing most of the night’s presenters and nominees live from their living rooms - without a hitch.
- “Schitt’s Creek” is the first comedy series to sweep all major categories, winning nine Emmys in total: Outstanding Comedy Series, Lead Actor, Lead Actress, Supporting Actor, Supporting Actress, Directing, Writing, as well as Casting and Contemporary Costumes awarded at five nights of virtual Creative Arts Emmys. Eugene and Dan Levy, Catherine O’Hara and Annie Murphy accept remotely from a socially-distanced cast and crew gathering in Canada.
- Zendaya becomes the youngest woman to win Outstanding Lead Actress in a Drama Series for her starring role in “Euphoria.”
- Regina King receives her fourth Emmy, for Outstanding Lead Actress in a Limited Series for “Watchman.”
- HBO’s “Succession” takes home Outstanding Drama Series, Jeremy Strong wins Outstanding Lead Actor in a Drama, and the program snags seven Emmys in total.
- Tyler Perry accepts the Governors Award for his achievements in television and his commitment to marginalized communities through employment programs of inclusion, engagement, and other philanthropic initiatives.

2021 73rd Emmy Awards (CBS, September 19)

- The COVID-19 pandemic continues to impact the Emmys; live production resumes, under industry and LA County health department protocols, inside an air-conditioned event tent on the Microsoft Theater Event Deck, with a vaccinated, tested and masked crew, led by executive producers Reginald Hudlin and Ian Stewart, and director Hamish Hamilton for production companies Done+Dusted and Hudlin Entertainment.
- Cedric the Entertainer hosts, approximately 400 nominees and their guests who have met Covid protocols, seated “in the round.” Nominees and presenters also appear from London and other locations.
- The most honored programs are the “Ted Lasso,” with seven Emmys including Outstanding Comedy Series, and statuettes for lead performer Jason Sudeikis, and supporting performers Hannah Waddingham and Brett Goldstein; and “The Crown,” with 11 wins including Outstanding Drama Series, and statuettes for Lead Actress Olivia Colman, Lead Actor Josh O’Conner, Supporting Actress Gillian Anderson and Supporting Actor Tobias Menzies.
- Jean Smart wins her fourth Emmy as Lead Actress in a Comedy Series for “Hacks,” while Kate Winslet takes home her second Emmy for Outstanding Lead Actress in a Limited Series or Anthology Series or Movie for her starring role in “Mare of Easttown.”
- RuPaul Charles makes Emmy history becoming the most-awarded person of color in the show's history with 11 wins.
- “I May Destroy You” star Michaela Coel dedicates her Emmy for Outstanding Writing for a Limited or Anthology Series or Movie to survivors of sexual abuse.
Debbie Allen, Emmy winner (producer, "Christmas on the Square") from the Creative Arts Emmys the prior weekend, is presented with the Governors Award by Jada Pinkett Smith, Ava DuVernay, Ellen Pompeo and Michael Douglas in recognition of her numerous contributions to the television medium through multiple creative forms (actress, dancer, choreographer, director, writer, producer), and her philanthropic endeavors around the world.

2022 74th Emmy Awards (NBC, September 12)

- Returning to the Microsoft Theater, the Awards features a stunning Los Angeles supper club setting, with stages surrounded by tables of nominees, and is produced by Done+Dusted in association with Hudlin Entertainment.
- Host Kenan Thompson opens the show with an energetic musical number that took audiences through top hits of television’s past.
- The evening is dominated by Lizzo, who wins the Emmy for “Lizzo’s Watch Out for the Big Grrrls,” waving her dancers to join her onstage: “This is for the big grrrls!”
- When Sheryl Lee Ralph wins Outstanding Supporting Actress in a Comedy Series for “Abbott Elementary,” she sings Diane Reeves’ "Endangered Species" to open her powerful acceptance speech. Quinta Brunson wins Outstanding Writing for “Abbott” in which she also stars.
- “Squid Game” makes history as the first Korean series – and first TV series not in English – earns top Emmy Awards, following up on 14 nominations. Hwang Dong-hyuk wins for Outstanding Directing for a Drama Series, star Lee Jung-jae wins Outstanding Lead Actor in a Drama Series, Lee You-mi wins Outstanding Guest Actress in a Drama Series, along with wins for Stunts, Production Design and Special Visual Effects.
- Zendaya is the youngest actress to win an Emmy twice – again as Outstanding Lead Actress in a Drama Series for “Euphoria.”
- “Ted Lasso” takes Outstanding Comedy Series for the second time, “Succession” is again the Outstanding Drama Series and “The White Lotus” wins Outstanding Limited or Anthology Series, along with nine other Emmys including Outstanding Supporting Actress, Jennifer Coolidge, Outstanding Supporting Actor Murray Bartlett, and series creator Mike White's wins for Writing and Directing.
- Jean Smart becomes a five-time Emmy winner, recognized again for her Lead Actress work on “Hacks.”

###