Table of Contents

03 Overview
04 Brand Positioning
05 Using our Names
06 Primary Logo
07 Foundation Logo
08 Emmy Logo
09 Spacial Relationships and Sizing of our Marks
10 Logo Colors
11 Typography
12 Emmy Statuette Photography
13 Emmy Magazine
14 Emmy Key Art
15 Emmy Mark and Photo
Dear Partner,
Enclosed are the Television Academy’s Brand Guidelines and Graphic Standards - the basic rules for using our visual identity elements. Follow these guidelines to ensure visual clarity and consistency when using the Television Academy and Television Academy Foundation assets. We are excited to work with you and ask that you submit your print and digital layouts and on-air graphic materials via electronic file for our review. For any questions regarding our logo marks or these guidelines, please don’t hesitate to contact the Television Academy brand management team:

Susan Spencer
CMO, Senior Vice President
Media and Brand Management
spencer@televisionacademy.com

Laurel Whitcomb
Vice President
Marketing
whitcomb@televisionacademy.com

Scott Buford
Senior Creative Director
Design Services
buford@televisionacademy.com

Additionally, please visit TelevisionAcademy.com/press to find usage and rights restrictions as well as graphic representation of our logos, images and more.
Brand Positioning

Celebrate
Through the Emmys® and beyond, we celebrate excellence in television, and those who achieve it.

Empower
We provide events, programs and opportunities that bring our community together and help current and future professionals stay connected, informed and relevant.

Push Boundaries
We set standards that help redefine how people engage with and consume television. We are the forum that brings television professionals together to spark new ideas and stories as well as new ways of working together. We do this because we believe the possibilities for television are unlimited. We also believe we have a responsibility to encourage future talent, and to provide them with information, tools and access to build careers and make positive contributions to television.
Using our Names

Television Academy Name
Always capitalize the first letter of each word. Our name does not require a® or trademark. Do not capitalize the article “the” if used before Television Academy.
It’s not part of our legal name. After the first use of “Television Academy” in a document or ad, it’s appropriate to shorten to “the Academy.”

We do not use the following versions of our name: ATAS, TVA, TV Academy

Emmy Name
The word Emmy® is trademarked and should appear as “Emmy®” the first time it’s used in a document or advertisement. Subsequent usage in the same document does not require the registered (®) symbol. When referencing the Emmy Award, please always capitalize “Award” as it is part of the trophy name. When referencing our awards telecast, please use the plural: “The Emmy® Awards.” If you shorten this to “the Emmys®,” do not use an apostrophe – it’s not a contraction nor is it possessive.
Primary Logo

Television Academy Logo
Our logo is a visual anchor and the main identifier of the Television Academy brand. It usually appears gold on black or white backgrounds. The logotype uses a proprietary font that should not be replicated in copy, or used anywhere except in our logo. The vertical bar is a transformative portal, to the right of which are names of events, initiatives and endeavors, or our Emmy statuette when appropriate. It stands taller than the stacked logotype and should not be cut down/minimized/removed.

Don’t “conjoin” our logo with another logo – sufficient spaces should appear between our logo and that of our partners to preserve the identity of each.

The Television Academy logo should always contain the ® next to the portal line. This should not be removed.
Foundation Logo

Television Academy Foundation Logo
In the Foundation version of our logo, the same logotype/vertical bar lock-up remains—with a smaller “Foundation” descriptor.

The Television Academy Foundation logo should always contain the ™ next to the portal line. This should not be removed.
Emmy® Logo

Emmy Statuette Symbol
The Emmy is the most recognizable symbol of excellence in our industry. The statuette isn’t part of our logo but can be used adjacent to the logo lock-up by Academy partners. For consistency, the statuette always faces left with the logo lock-up, and we prefer it face left when standing alone.

When the Television Academy logo and statue are joined, it should always contain the ® next to the statue graphic. This is the only time that both logos do not need a registration mark.
Clear Space
Surround our logo with clear space—free of type, graphics and other elements that lessen its impact—to maximize recognition. The minimum space surrounding the logo is the height of the logotype “T.” When the Emmy statuette symbol is isolated on a layout, its minimum clearspace is the diameter of the atomic sphere.

Minimum Size for Digital Use
The minimum size is the smallest legible size of our logos and marks before they begin to degrade. Digital minimum sizes are larger than print minimum sizes due to the nature of pixel-based displays. Refer to the minimum size specifications below before designing a layout. The minimum logo size is 75px wide and the minimum statuette size is 28px wide.

Minimum Size for Print Use
Refer to the minimum size specifications for the elements below before designing a layout. The minimum size of the logo for print should be no smaller than 45px, and for the statuette, no smaller than 17px.

NOTE: The registered mark for the statuette symbol should be manually adjusted within layouts to balance its size with that of the symbol.
Logo Colors

Our primary color is gold, but our marks can also be used in black or white. If alternative color choices are required, please consult the Academy for approved secondary colors.

Gold
- CMYK 5, 34, 100, 0
- RGB 241, 173, 20
- hex #f1ad14
- Pantone 123C
- Pantone 115U

Black
- CMYK 0, 0, 0, 100
- RGB 0, 0, 0
- hex #000000

White
- CMYK 0, 0, 0
- RGB 255, 255, 255
- hex #ffffff
Typography

Primary Typeface – Foundry Sterling
Use it in headlines, body copy and captions for the majority of Television Academy and Foundation materials. We typically use Foundry Sterling Book, Light and Medium as noted below. Different weights and styles organize headlines, body copy, captions and everything in between, as well as areas of emphasis within individual communications.

Aa
Foundry Sterling Book

Aa
Foundry Sterling Light

Aa
Foundry Sterling Medium

Aa
Foundry Sterling Book Italic

Aa
Foundry Sterling Light Italic

Aa
Foundry Sterling Medium Italic

Alternative Typeface – Verdana
This web-safe typeface is for screen-based environments. As a universal computer system font, it facilitates faster site performance through search engines and can be updated with web authoring tools. Substitute Verdana for Foundry Sterling in body copy where web-safe text must be used. Only use Verdana for headers in rare instances.

Aa
Verdana Regular

Aa
Verdana Bold

Aa
Verdana Bold Italic

Aa
Verdana Italic

ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ
abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz
1234567890

ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ
abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz
1234567890
Emmy® Statuette Photography

The Emmy statuette may be used as a design element, but it should not be used as, misconstrued for, or get in the way of the actual logo mark or the Key Art for the Emmy Awards. A photograph of the Emmy may not be manipulated with graphic effects. The Emmy Award image must always be accompanied by the registration mark ® by the base. “Statue © ATAS/NATAS” should legally appear somewhere small on the page when the statue is used. This photo is located on our press portal for internal use and Corporate Partnerships. emmys.com/press

Statuette is also available in a 3-D render upon request.

DO NOT split Emmy across the gutter of a magazine spread. DO NOT divide it into pieces for a gate-fold. DO NOT divide it across a series of banners.

Doing so inevitably loses a portion of the image and denigrates the statuette.
Emmy® Magazine

The title of our award-winning magazine always appears italicized, all lower case, EXCEPT when it is the first word in a sentence. It is not bolded. The word "magazine" when used with the title of the publication is all lower case.

For example: One of the best reads about the television industry is emmy magazine. And: Emmy magazine won four Maggies just two weeks ago.

When referring to the plural or the possessive, the extra punctuation and letters are NOT italicized.

For example: There was a stack of emmys on the coffee table in the entryway. Or: It was emmy’s good fortune to feature cover photos of the top actresses in the television industry for the past calendar year.

While the title on the magazine masthead carries a ®, the name will not need the same trademark designation inside the publication. Likewise, if the name of the magazine appears in prose, in a headline for a press release, feature story or collateral publication, the registered trademark symbol need not be used in subsequent body copy.
Each year, the Television Academy develops unique Key Art for its Primetime Emmys telecast. Use of the Emmys Official Key Art is granted by permission of the Television Academy; all Key Art materials must be used as is. There can be no cropping, partial covering or co-mingling logos with the Key Art. The annual key art will be shared with our partners when it is approved. Key art elements will also be made available at that time. Previous examples are included below.

Additionally, the Key Art graphic that contains the wording “Primetime Emmy Awards,” “Emmy Awards” or simply “Emmys” (with or without the numerical designation) cannot be altered in any way. The wording of the graphic must appear as it is designed.
Emmy® Mark and Photo

External Advertising using our Marks
Usage of the Emmy symbol or photograph may be used by the nominee during July-September of the nomination year only. Winners may use the marks for one year from the time of their win. A notation must be made by the marks stating if they are a nominee or winner, including the category and year.

These marks and photo are located on our press portal for internal use and Corporate Partnerships. emmys.com/press